How Time Flies!!

The inevitable approaches. Graduation confronts the Class of 1995 head on. With so little time together, memories become precious, and making memories becomes essential.

Some Seniors have known each other since the diapers and kiddie pool era. Dana Taylor and Kristin Hattan remember back to their elementary years when they would throw unwanted sandwiches in the trees and under cars?!

Other Seniors joined the class recently. Shannon Rouse transferred to NC this year when the Marquette Public School closed its doors. Jennifer Wood and Shane Hoover also joined the ranks this school year. Jana Breese and Elijah Johnson returned to the Class of 1995

Some Seniors live in the area. Andrew Musgrave simply strolls across the road to school each morning. Many Seniors, like Eric Peterson and Lonny Cooper, enjoy about a 20-30 minute drive to school. Dana Taylor, Holly Johnson, and Jaime Poffel drive an hour to get to school. Other classmates live in different parts of the state, country, or even world. Lina Oshio has been at NC since her Sophomore year. Living in Totri, Japan, Lina makes her home in the dorm. Mandy Jividen, a Wyoming resident, stays with her mom in a cabin just outside of Central City. Her mom commutes between their home in Cheyenne, WY and their house in Nebraska. Jon Parlane's parents accepted the call to be missionaries in Puebla, Mexico. They left during the summer, but Jon chose to remain at NC, living with Mr. and Mrs. Wischmeier.

Diversity brings the Class of 1995 together and Christ keeps them together.

Some Seniors live in the dorm. Actually, a lot of Senior girls live in the dorm. Leaving her missionary parents behind in Germany, Joy Spaulding returned to NC for her senior year and stays in the dorm. Stacie Coppedge of Cheyenne, WY also lives in the dorm. With this many Seniors in the dorm, it is bound to get wild. Every day in West Hall is a memory in the making. Chritsy Hampton tells of water fights, tickle wars, curling iron concerts and walkie talkies at night which provide most girls with fond and funny memories of dorm life. However, one memory will stick with them all (especially Michele Warner): toilet runoff early in the morning.

Some Seniors enjoy being involved in sports. Seven Seniors took the field in football, leading the team to a 4-5 season. Most will not forget Jon Parlane's pre-game concerts, or Leon Clevenger's pre-game Petra at high decibels. For the love of TAZ the Senior girls led the volleyball team. Susie Wiles and Trisha Redding return to drama as old pros prepared to entertain the world. Band lovers will hear the trumpet of Dalane Epp above the rest. Sara Chase "persuades" her way through speech season while Shawna Leach captivates the listeners with her poetry, and Mandy Flynn informs her audience about emphysema and dandruff.

Some handle these hectic schedules. Most do not. Many a harried, stressed-out Senior can be found in the halls of any school day. Keeping up with school work, athletic practices, and after school jobs has most Seniors scrambling. Part time jobs do consume a lot of time. Matt Hoff spends time as a cashier. Brad Bremer flips burgers, as does Nikki Prusa. Randy Dietz, the class car fanatic, pumps gas and enjoys mechanic work.

Some will go to Romania. For the first time, NC is sending a missions team to Romania. Ben Merchant, Hannah Huenefeld, Andrew Musgrave, Nancy Rikli, Dalane Epp, and Jessica Behrens eagerly await their departure to Romania where they will share their faith in public schools, orphanages and churches.

Diversity brings the Class of 1995 together and Christ keeps them together. So, as time flies by...Look up, Seniors!!!

Jessica Marie Behrens

How Embarrassing!! — When I fell on the floor at St. Edward while running to warm-ups in Basketball.

Five Years?? — In college or married.

Pet Peeve?! — People that smack their gum.

Dana Marie Breese

How Embarrassing!! — Too many!!

Five Years?? — Married and in graduate school.

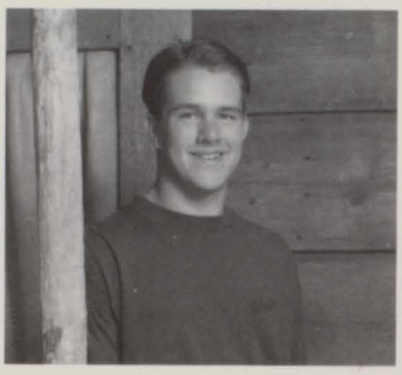
Pet Peeve?! — Immature guys who think they are the best.

Bradley Michael Bremer

How Embarrassing!! — Turned the wrong way on a one way street in downtown Omaha.

Five Years?? — Anywhere in the world, still in the Navy.

Pet Peeve?! — Slow drivers.



Sara Renee Chase

How Embarrassing!! — When I ran a red light with a policeman sitting right there, and my mom was behind me.

Five Years?? — I hope to be out of college with a major in missions and on my way to Russia.

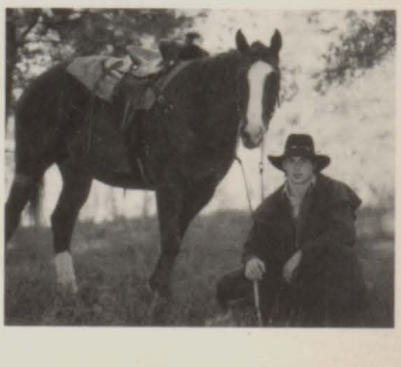
Pet Peeve?! — When people rub their hands on the ceiling of a car.

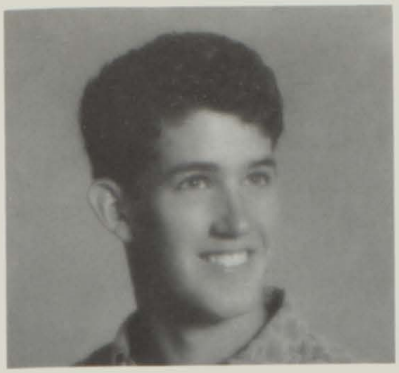
Jeord K. Clevenger

How Embarrassing!! — My cleats didn't catch traction as I went to kick a field goal, and I ended up on the ground.

Five Years?? — If I go to college, I'll probably be working to pay my school bills. If I don't go to college, I'll probably work to pay off all my toys. (Pick-up, stock car, dirt bike)

Pet Peeve?! — Yearbook questions.





Tonny Denton Cooper

How Embarrassing!! — When I was in elementary, I accidentally sneezed on a girl's sandwich.

Five Years?? — I think I'll be in the Mid-west on my job that I trained for in college. I might go into some sort of agriculture engineering career.

Pet Peeve?! — When people drive around with only their parking lights on.

Staci Ann Coppedge

How Embarrassing!! — During the first part of a football game, I went to brush a leaf off my coat, the "leaf" jumped and I screamed at the beginning of the National Anthem.

Five Years?? — I want to be a missionary in South America.

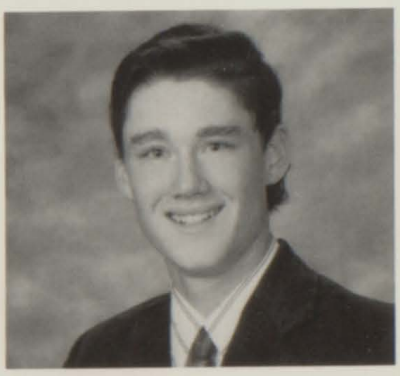
Pet Peeve?! — When people get in my comfortable space.

Randal Wayne Cobb

How Embarrassing!! — None.

Five Years?? — Working in Western Nebraska.

Pet Peeve?! — People who call a pick-up a "truck."



John Lane Epp

How Embarrassing!! — None

Five Years?? — I will be a hermit living in a cave in Northwest Montana.

Pet Peeve?! — Girls who perpetually engage in superfluous twaddle.

Amanda Marie Flynn

How Embarrassing!! — My Freshman year I was walking from the gym to the Ad Building and my slip started sliding off. It ended up tangled around my feet.

Five Years?? — I hope to work in Advertising, either for a large company or self-employed. I'd also like to be married and very involved in a local church.

Pet Peeve?! — Drumbeats in the middle of Government class!

Christy Michelle Hampton

How Embarrassing!! — During basketball I meant to hit the ball, but I hit another player in the head, hard! People in the crowd said they heard the slap ... oops!!

Five Years?? — I hope to be married and work part-time as some kind of secretary for a business corporation.

Pet Peeve?! — Guys with long fingernails, short jeans, and also, ROAD CONSTRUCTION.

Kristin Joy Hattan

How Embarrassing!! — At our 8th grade class party, I broke my nose, and ended up wearing a cast over it.

Five Years?? — Hopefully be done with college, and maybe be married.

Pet Peeve?! — People who pop their knuckles. Back stabbers.

Matthew David Hoff

How Embarrassing!! — Kara, a student helper in P.E. class, depantsed me in flag football as she attempted to grab my flag.

Five Years?? — I'll be working with Elijah.

Pet Peeve?! — Christy and Susie.

Shane M R Hoover

How Embarrassing!! — Going up to some lady thinking it was my mom.

Five Years?? — Riding the rails of a Burlington Northern boxcar, seeing the country the cheap way.

Pet Peeve?! — People who ask stupid questions.

Hannah Lynn Huenefeld

How Embarrassing!! — Wearing a black shoe and a navy shoe to school on the same day.

Five Years?? — No clue. Maybe teaching in a reform school.

Pet Peeve?! — Flirtatious girls always chasing guys.

Amanda Adelle Jividen

How Embarrassing!! — My sophomore year at drama districts.

Five Years?? — I will be in the United States, doing something that makes me happy.

Pet Peeve?! — People who get up early and smile happily!

Elijah Steven Johnson

How Embarrassing!! — When I tripped over a wire in Aurora at our class party.

Five Years?? — Running my own business.

Pet Peeve?! — Sara, Mandy, and Christy bugging me!

Holly Sue Johnson

How Embarrassing!! — When I almost fainted at work in front of the customers.

Five Years?? — I think I will be a secretary and will be working with computers.

Pet Peeve?! — When people borrow things and don't return them.

Shauna Kay Leach

How Embarrassing!! — I'd rather not share because it's a little to personal and I'm blushing now just thinking about it.

Five Years?? — I will hope to have graduated with a Bachlors Degree in Business Communications with a minor in Speech Broadcasting. I also hope to be engaged or married, living in Wisconsin - God willing.

Pet Peeve?! — "Smacking" while eating.

Benjamin Ryan Plunkett

How Embarrassing!! — When I walked into a basketball game with my fly down.

Five Years?? — Wherever God puts me. Probably still in college.

Pet Peeve?! — Whiners. Bad ref's.

ITTIER HALL

Andrew James Mustard

How Embarrassing!! — In 6th grade I dropped my hot lunch twice on the same day, in front of Junior High and High School.

Five Years?? — Be in business for myself.

Pet Peeve?! — People using my stuff without asking.

Lina Ashley Otto

How Embarrassing!! — I called Mr. Cook, Mr. Goff.

Five Years?? — I have no idea.

Pet Peeve?! — People who brush teeth with their fingers.

Jonathon Edward Poitevin

How Embarrassing!! — My most embarrassing moment.

Five Years?? — I think I might be a missionary, of course I'll be spreading the Gospel, but how I'll do it, I'm not sure.

Pet Peeve?! — Country Music.

Eric D. Peterson

How Embarrassing!! — None

Five Years?? — I will be living in a Monastery.

Pet Peeve?! — "Christian" smut books.

Jaime Lynn Poppell

How Embarrassing!! — None

Five Years?? — I'll be graduated from college and I might be in a foreign country teaching missionary kids.

Pet Peeve?! — When someone says they got a bad grade on a test but they really got a good grade.

Nicole Marie Prusa

How Embarrassing!! — Getting a technical foul in a basketball game.

Five Years?? — I hope to be working with children in the inner city.

Pet Peeve?! — Unexcused absences.

Trisha Lynn Redding

How Embarrassing!! — When I tripped over the easel in speech class.

Five Years?? — Serving God, possibly married and I hope to have my own cow.

Pet Peeve?! — When people get in my face when they are talking to me.

Nancy Lee Rikli

How Embarrassing!! — Falling down the stairs while talking to Tracy Norris in the Ad. Building.

Five Years?? — Married and living on a beautiful farm. I'll have a plump rooster to wake me up every morning. I can hardly wait! I'll also be hosting "Nancy Time."

Pet Peeve?! — When guys come up behind me and poke me.

Shannon Kay Rouse

How Embarrassing!! — I forgot my line in a play and all I could say was I..I..can't believe this.

Five Years?? — I will live close by and be a secretary.

Pet Peeve?! — When people are messy and don't pick up after themselves.

Rebekah Joy Spaulding

How Embarrassing!! — When I waved at Trish but actually it was ... well, I don't know!!

Five Years?? — A fitness specialist; out of college and free from homework.

Pet Peeve?! — Jon Parlane and Eric Peterson's toe tapping.

Dana Arrice Taylor

How Embarrassing!! — Falling on a wet floor in basketball warm-ups last year.

Five Years?? — I'll be recovering from 17 years of school.

Pet Peeve?! — When people interrupt conversations.

Michele Renee Warner

How Embarrassing!! — I got pulled over by a big, mean state patrol woman for a dumb mistake and my brother told the whole football team.

Five Years?? — I will have a job that I really like, and I'll begin making my fortune!

Pet Peeve?! — People who drive slow and won't get out of my way!!!

Susan Marie Wilson

How Embarrassing!! — When I thought the fan at Mandy J's was the wind blowing, and she told people at school.

Five Years?? — Back here at N. C. taking over Mrs. Uhler's job.

Pet Peeve?! — People who give stupid answers.

Jennifer Marie Wood

How Embarrassing!! — I didn't think anyone was home and I walked out of the bathroom wearing only a towel and ran into the "Schwans man."

Five Years?? — Wyoming, interning at a vet clinic.

Pet Peeve?! — When people hum in class.

Time To Grow

High school presents itself as a time to grow. Students receive opportunities to challenge themselves mentally, socially, physically, and most of all spiritually.

Teachers build on the foundations set in the elementary and Junior High years. English advances into creative writing, poetry, speech, and reading classical literature. Math multiplies into algebra, geometry, trigonometry, business math, and accounting and adds a little science to pick up the area of physics. History resurrects itself as world and American history, as well as geography and government. Science evolves into chemistry, biology, and physical science. With all these options, a day fills up quickly!

Students all of a sudden find themselves swamped with new concepts, theories, and tons of homework. On top of all that they pile their social lives. NC offers such a wide variety of extra curricular activities; nobody is left out. Starting a week before school, volleyball and football vie for athletes' time right up until the beginning of November. Drama swings into action at the beginning of the year, too, not to mention ensemble, yearbook, choir, pep band, and the Junior class' concession stands. By the first of November, speech takes off, and basketball for both boys and girls starts. When spring rolls around, track adds itself to the list of extra curricular along with music and speech contests.

The most important development in an NC student's life comes in the area of spiritual growth.

School sponsored banquets, concerts, and class parties also scatter across the yearly calendar. Homecoming week begins the action with Spirit Week, a soup supper, and a ball game. Banquets such as the Harvest Fest and the Advance Dinner offer the students a chance to interact with the constituents, parents, and staff in a formal setting. Students enjoy the Christmas Banquet and the Valentine's Banquet and Talent Show. But for the upperclassmen, the true excitement comes at Jr. /Sr. Banquet time. Juniors spend all year concocting a theme (which includes entertainment, decorations and dinner), making decorations, and keeping it all a secret.

The most important development in a NC student's life comes in the area of spiritual growth. Students daily receive encouragement from various staff members. Some teachers present short devotionals as the Spirit leads, others simply open themselves up as adult counsel in a situation in which a student needs help. Several chapels each week feature sermons, testimonies, praise and worship, prayer, and direction for students and staff. This year the ten part film series "How Then Should We Live" also challenges students to compare by-gone eras to the world today and gain a sense of how Christianity exists regardless of the circumstances, government, or moral deprivation of a society. Most importantly, God has opened hearts and minds to His work, both on the NC campus and in the world abroad. Meeting with prayer partners, students pray for each other, the campus, the administration, the government, and needs seen around them. This simple action opens up ministry opportunities and growth to each and every student.

It's easy to see how an education at NC prepares a student for life. By offering an atmosphere conducive to growth mentally, socially, physically, and spiritually, NC shows that its true emphasis is on encouraging growth. So, as a time for growth knocks on the door .... Look up!

JUNIORS

Encouragement for Underclassmen

This year we have discovered that our class has drawn closer to each other as time went on. Doing concessions was hard work and stressful at times, but we learned how to cover for each other and work around each other's differences. We also learned how much fun it was to be a class as we planned Junior-Senior. Underclassmen, don't be discouraged as you think of all the hard work ahead because as time goes on you, too, will learn to unite. And, when all else fails, pray together!

Nicole enjoys lunch on the Spanish class field trip.

For some unapparent reason, Danny left class that day with a slight crick neck in his neck.

Learning from last year's high school experience, the sophomore class took a more relaxed approach to life this year. Always on the look out for fun, the sophomores were quick to describe themselves as "energetic", "fun-loving", and "very talkative". They claimed that a typical scene in their classroom was "everyone talking and laughing loudly". However, the sophomores did take time to set goals for themselves. Some of them were serious such as "making the honor role" and "developing a closer relationship with God and fellow classmates". Other goals, however, had a humorous touch to them such as "pass 10th grade" or simply "perfection". The sophomores probably didn't achieve the goal of perfection, but there will always be next year.

Doing Doubletime!!!

Stop and smell the roses. Sure the old adage sounds nice, but who has time to stop for anything — let alone the little things in life?? The modern world rushes by tugging many Christians down the freeway of cellular phones, FAX machines and microwave dinners, and NC faculty and students are just as guilty as everyone else. But God has created a world full of wonderfully fascinating creatures, it is just up to us to take the time to enjoy them. So, this poses two major problems. First there are so many quality activities, how do you choose which ones to participate in?? Second, how do you justify taking time out of schedules to just do nothing? NC does provide many quality activities in which to participate. Athletes enjoy their share of sports, but non athletes can keep just as busy. Starting in the fall, drama jumps into the scene. Drama members stock their schedules full of practices, performances and play competitions. Yearbook swings into the scene next. Yearbook staff members face the challenge of deadlines, triplicates and finding enough pictures?!?! By about the second month of school, Mrs. Hoff begins rounding up her speech team. Though competition doesn't officially begin until December, every day until then is spent on writing speeches, transitions and introductions, as well as cutting, blocking, and plain old practice. For those who don't find writing, acting and speaking appealing, there is always music. From the first day of school on, Mrs. Wischmeier keeps musicians hopping. Looking forward to a spring tour filled with concerts, the choir practices, practices, and practices more. Band spices up the fall and winter sports programs with pep band music. Ensemble starts its tour a little early, heading out to sing as early as October this year. Focusing on unity as well as musical quality, this group is a source of public relations for NC. So it's easy to see that all of these activities are good. But judgement comes when a student is able to narrow their activities down to a few. The number one cause of major burnout lies in over commitment. So far, nobody has died of overactivity. But if everyone would take just a little time out of their schedules to smell the roses, there would definitely be fewer ulcers. But how can you justify a little time out of each day for nothing but pure relaxation? Christians have one really easy "out". Christ says "come unto me all who are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest." It is as simple as that. Focus on God. Start each day out with a few moments in His Word, and in prayer — it works wonders on a person's mental state. But most importantly, enjoy the little things! God has revealed so much of himself in nature that He holds us accountable on that basis alone!

So, stop and smell the roses, it may surprise you how one minute out of a hectic schedule will change the whole day!!

Stop and smell the roses, it may surprise you how one moment out of your hectic schedule will change your whole day!!

Class Officers

The class officers take on the responsibilities for class parties and leading homeroom; however, as the underclassmen become upperclassmen, the officers take on more work. The Junior class officers also get to worry about the details regarding concessions and saving money for the Jr. /Sr. banquet and their Senior Retreat. The Senior officers are responsible for scheduling people to do papers, and they also work on the final details for the retreat. It takes a good leader and someone with a lot of patience to be a good and efficient officer.

The Student Council is very active behind the scenes of the activities at NCHS. They plan and decorate for Homecoming, the Christmas Banquet, and the Valentine's Banquet. All the money the Student Council uses comes from the annual chocolate sales. This year's funds also paid for music stands, girl's basketball warmups, JV boy's basketball shorts, balls for all of the sports, and tissues for every classroom.

STUDENT LIFE

Andrew Musgrave
Q: What is your favorite part of school?
A: Discussion in Bible classes and attending extra curricular activities.

Shane Hoover
Q: Who is your favorite sports figure?
A: Tommy Frazier

Mandy Bjorkman
Q: What is your favorite pastime?
A: My favorite pastime is riding my horse.

Jennifer Wood
Q: What was a big shock to you about NC?
A: The two bells at the end of each period and the "trust" teachers have in their students.

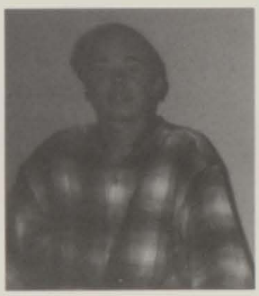
Lisa Anderson
Q: What do you like most about the dorm?
A: My friends are close, and if I ever have a problem, I can go to them. I also enjoy living on campus because I don't waste time traveling from home to school.

Josh Schreiber
Q: What is your favorite sport?
A: Baseball

Bethany Huenefeld
Q: What is your favorite season?
A: Spring because God is making things new again, the weather is getting warm, and school's almost out.

Tyler Jones
Q: What is your favorite holiday?
A: Christmas because it's Jesus' birth.

Mike Fuller
Q: Do you consider yourself smart?
A: No, I don't consider myself smart. Even though I do really well in school, I have so much yet to learn.



Eric Pazarena
Q: What is your biggest pet peeve?
A: Cowboys!

Nick Stone
Q: If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?
A: I would want my memory to be better.

Tammy Stuhmer
Q: What is your favorite part of volleyball?
A: The team effort. It's great to do well personally, but you couldn't do it alone. God is always in the center helping us.

Tracy Norris
Q: Do you mind having your dad as a teacher and coach?
A: I am proud that my father takes as much interest in my life as he does. It is rather difficult. Just think of all the teasing you would get from your friends. My father and I have gotten to know each other much better these last 2 years, so overall I am proud and honored.

Scott Wagner
Q: How does it feel to be an uncle?
A: The feeling is incredible. When I saw my niece after she was born, I felt an immediate bond and responsibility. I will always love and brag about my niece.

Krista Kuhns
Q: What keeps you happy?
A: Jesus makes me happy. It's hard to be sad when I think of all the good things He's done for me. It's also fun to be happy!

Homecoming '94

The 1994 Homecoming candidates were:

Hannah Huenefeld and Lonny Cooper

Jessica Behrens and Andrew Musgrave

Nikki Prusa and Jonathon Parlane

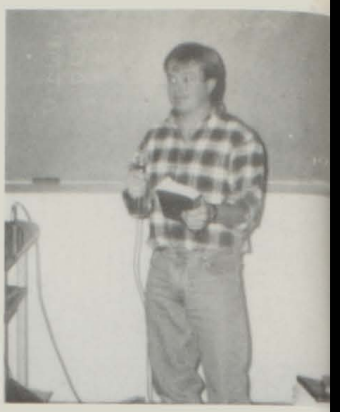
Dana Taylor and Ben Merchant

The 1994 Homecoming king and queen were:

Benjamin Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Merchant, is from Polk, NE and has attended NC for eight years. He made a first time decision to follow Christ when he was five but realized the need for absolute surrender to Christ at Summit last summer. Summit showed him that God is a reality, and that he needed to live for God. His best NC memories include track, choir and ensemble tours, and Jr. -Sr. Banquet. In the future, Ben wants to go to college and eventually become a medical doctor.

Hannah Huenefeld and Benjamin Merchant were Nebraska Christian's 1994 Homecoming king and queen.

Hannah Huenefeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huenefeld, has attended NC since her eighth grade year. Hannah remembers accepting Christ when she was four or five years old. Through her little brother, Hannah learned the importance of living in God's will and walking close to him. Looking back on her years at NC, she remembers the fun of being a part of the girl's first basketball team and competing in state speech meets. Hannah shares, "My goal is to become a godly woman who honors the Lord. I desire to become a teacher and challenge my students to believe and hope in God."



Chapel

Chapel this year allowed many different ways to worship the Lord. We heard from missionaries around the world, dramas, and even student led singing chapels. The topics ranged from the life of Moses, how to defend your faith, Spiritual dress code, and the influences of Christians on non-Christians. The Spiritual Emphasis speaker this year was James Jost. He spoke on giving your love away to gain more love, and he gave some guidelines for loving relationships.

Yearbook

Yearbook. The very word doesn't sound very exciting. But all the late nights, deadlines, and long days spent slaving over a computer can add up to some pretty crazy memories. From proofing pages at the Harvest Festival to receiving "death threats" for late pages, yearbook is anything but boring.

"THIS IS A WHAT?"

" I don't spend it foolishly Mark!"

" You never did babysit Chris, you're afraid of her."

What has twenty legs, imitates Bible characters with towels, and gets mad while counting to ten? If you guessed the N. C. Drama Team, you're right. Making up most of the team were seniors Leon Clevenger, Stacie Coppedge, Shawna Leach, Sara Chase, Susan Wiles, Jessica Behrens, and Trisha Redding. Also on the team were two juniors Scott Wagner and Jenny Hunt, and sophomore, Esther Musgrave. It was an exciting year for them all, for they had many opportunities to take their plays to the stage. One opportunity was Conference play production contest in which Shawna Leach was recognized as outstanding actress. The first play, "A Friend Like Annie" carried the message of having a friendship with a mentally handicapped teenager. The second play, "Staying Home" brought to the stage the real life issue of teenage pregnancy and marriage. Both were exciting, thought provoking plays. Judges and audiences alike were enthused about them.

Jessica, Esther, Leon, Scott, Susie, Jenny, Stacie, Trisha, Shawna, and Sara

I Peter 4:11 - "If anyone speaks, he should do it as one speaking the very words of God ... "

" Watch out Annie!"

Esther, Scott, Jenny, and Trisha found it hard not to be goofy.

. . . "A DRAMA TEAM!"

SPEECH

"Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young, but set an example for the believers in speech*, in life, in love, in faith and in purity." 1 Timothy 4:12*

"Listen kids, the meet is getting close now! I'm serious, fill that board up!" Mrs. Hoff's constant reminders to sign up to practice were the driving force behind the speech team this year. Because of the size of the team, the upperclassmen assumed roles as "helpers" by coaching various novices. This interaction between the different grades unified the team into a working unit. Early success boosted morale, and now the team anticipates yet another winning season. They see opportunities not only to excel in speech, but also to use the talents which God gave them to honor HIM!

Are you in trouble again Becky?

The Dorm

Grudgingly awakening
To a brand new sunny day,
Peons grumpily trudge to breakfast,
And no one has much to say.

At supper moods are different,
Food is flying askew.
The chatter is never ceasing,
As we laugh the whole meal through.

Nights are filled with laughter
And tiny furry friends.
Shrieks echo through the hallway,
When a mouse we apprehend.

P. J.'s we are donning,
Now we're drifting off to sleep.
But startled we awaken,
At the alarm clock's dreaded beep.

MINISTRY IS ...

Ministry is giving when you feel like keeping,

Praying for others when you need to be prayed for,

Feeding others when your own soul is hungry,

Living truth before people even when you can't see the results,

Hurting with other people even when your own hurt can't be spoken,

Keeping your word even when it is not convenient,

It is being faithful when you just want to give up.

SENIOR

What do you call a trip to Colorado to go skiing with 31 of your friends? A whole lot of fun! On February 26th the seniors traveled eight joyous hours to stay at Camp ID-RA-HA-JE. The four days spent together were filled with laughing, talking, sharing and also a little shaving cream and pudding!

ROCKED!

Down to the Last Second

On the courts and on the field exists the concept of competition. Where it originated, no one knows. Regardless of its beginning, competition brings out the fight-til-ya-die feelings in every athlete.

This "feeling" displays itself most vividly on the football field, where athletes can express their true feelings with actions and remain within the guidelines of a good game. On the field, strategy combines with strength, brains with brawn and muscle with mind to create a game loved by so many spectators. Whether it's a local high school game, college match up, or NFL showdown, players and coaches alike experience an emotional roller coaster from the moment the day starts to its final hour. NC football is no different. A jumble of emotions like fear, anticipation and excitement fly through the NC players heads on game day, but that one feeling remains undescribed.

In the midst of "this feeling", Christ remains the focus and serving Him the ultimate goal.

"It's hard to explain that sudden rush," says Sr. Ben Merchant. Jr. Ryan Francl agrees, "During the game it's just a RUSH!" That rush seeps into the minds of players bringing them together in intensity, unity and desire.

Call it a rush; call it adrenaline, or maybe just insanity; but that feeling continues to be the driving force behind a football team. Creating aggressiveness, it also provides clear thinking and quick reacting.

Soph. Michael Buller describes his reactions when he's called on to go into the game, "At first I get nervous, but then I focus on one thing — coach's instructions."

This feeling produces many different reactions. For some, crashing into somebody satisfies this feeling, but for others singing, screaming, quiet pondering or even dressing differently serves as a vent of emotion. Sr. Jonathan Parlane admits to all of the above, "On a game day, I picture the game. I act and dress differently, and I get very loud."

Jr. Todd Hower takes a calmer approach to his game day. He wakes up and simply tells himself that he's got to win. Focus is crucial explains Jr. Tracy Norris. He feels that the whole day is part of the game. "It just sorta' sets the tone for the game." Regardless of the proceeding school day, the football game always brings that feeling to all of the players. Soph. Mike Flynn says, "Walking out onto the field pumps you up! You kick twice as far, run twice as fast; man it's weird!"

But most importantly, for this team positive reactions bring them one step closer to their goals ... to play well and honor God. That remains to be the goal of every team and player at NC. In the midst of that feeling Christ is the focus and serving Him is the ultimate goal.

Eagle Football 1994

anything their opponents try.

The 1994 football season brought trials and triumphs for the NC Eagles. After a rough start the team got back on track and ended up 4 and 4 in the conference with one non-conference loss. The season did have some tough losses, but it also had some sweet victories. For the Seniors this season will be a season to be remembered and for the under classmen a season to build upon and learn from.

Senior Lonny Cooper reflects on the season saying, "The season went by fast, but I will always remember the St. Ed game as one of the best games I played in." Having fun and working to win were some of the goals of the football team, but the number one goal was to let others see God through the team.

More was learned through this season than just how to tackle or the plays that were executed, but also how to work as a team to accomplish a goal.

The NC Eagles are ready to take off.

Philippians 4:13 I can do everything through Christ who gives me strength.

I AM AGGRESSIVE AND I EXPECT TO WIN!

According to The Webster dictionary, to lose is to fail to win. This statement is definitely not the same for the N. C. Volleyball team. To lose is simply something to take and learn from for the ladies. Our season started off with a group of seven girls that went to a volleyball camp at Wayne State. This started a unity that carried into the season. With two seniors, two juniors, and two freshman starting we didn't know what to expect. With girls that worked hard and had hearts to win we pulled it all together and had one awesome, fun team. The team will never forget all the wonderful death valleys (especially bunny ones.) Or how about all those animal walks. Silver Creek had to be one memory that will stand out. It goes to show that you take one point at a time and never give up. Always remember "Who's in the Middle?"

The 94-95 Basketball season was filled with many exciting and learning experiences. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Larry Schreiber the Eagles posted their first winning season in several years. Winning and losing were not the only things the Eagles learned about this year. Many Eagles learned life changing lessons. They discovered more about themselves, and about their Lord. Hopefully in the future when they look back at this basketball season they will remember two changes: a turnaround in the basketball program and a change in their hearts.

So Much Time to Go!

If children are like wet cement, then teachers are the brick masons. During the twelve or thirteen years spent at NC, the foundation of life is laid, and on top of it are placed the bricks of character. Each teacher has access to this cement, as well as an opportunity to lay a brick or two upon that foundation. A major responsibility falls on the shoulders of the teachers here at NC in that they carry the power to either carefully build successful students or half-heartedly slap together incompetent washouts. The blueprint for a successful student involves a principle layer of knowledge, a second layer of Christian character and finally the challenge to stand up and succeed.

NC teachers empower students for success not only in school, but also in life.

NC's curriculum, designed to teach the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic provide students with facts and information that they will carry with them for the rest of their lives. Early on, teachers help students master the basics by memorization, hands-on-learning and repetition. Elementary teachers realize that to be successful in big things, their students must first learn the little things. On top of the basic knowledge, the teacher works daily to instill Godly characters in each pupil. Positive social skills along with qualities such as a strong work ethic, honesty, integrity, patience and perseverance find their way into many lesson plans. Teachers also realize the importance of personal example. Living lives full of God's love which manifests itself in character traits, NC's teachers are walking testimonies to each one of their students. By giving their students the skills to find the answers to life's questions, as well as the source of true knowledge, teachers build solid foundations for their students. But after teaching students knowledge and developing good character the job doesn't stop for NC faculty. The real test comes when each of these students enters the world after graduation and puts all of the teaching to use. NC's student success rate attributes its high numbers to the foundations built while attending school at NC. Often it is only after graduation that the students can totally appreciate the time and love spent on their behalf by each one of the staff members. This positive reinforcement completes the blueprint, and hopefully makes up a successful student. Educators possess the knowledge and the experience to either build students for success as adults or carelessly monitor students in hopes that they will eventually turn out. By starting with a foundation of knowledge, topped with Godly character and finally the challenge to stand in the real world, NC teachers empower students for success not only in school, but also in life.

SEVENTH GRADE

At the beginning of the year there was quite a bit of apprehension among the seventh graders about the transition from an elementary to a high school atmosphere. After a few weeks, it all smoothed over and the newness of the high school atmosphere became customary. That is until finals! Finals were taken both ways. Some appreciated them, but others cringed at the thought of them. All in all we got along fine. We survived the transition and had a great time.

"Dana, lift up your eyes to the hills where does your help come from?
Your help comes from the LORD,
the Maker of heaven and earth.
He will not let your foot slip
he who watches over you will not slumber;
indeed, he who watches over Israel
will neither slumber nor sleep.
The LORD watches over you -
the LORD is your shade at your right hand;
The LORD will keep you from all harm.
He will watch over your life;
The LORD will watch over your coming and going both now and forevermore."

(Our paraphrase based on Psalm 121. Especially notice "the LORD" and "watch over.")

Lovingly,
Dad and Mom

Dear Shawna,
"We always thank God ... we have not stopped praying for you and asking God to fill you with the knowledge of his will through all spiritual wisdom and understanding. And we pray this in order that you may live a life worthy of the Lord and may please him in every way." (Colossians 1:3, 9&10)

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men ... It is the Lord you are serving." (Colossians 3:23&24)

"You can do everything through Christ who gives you strength." (Philippians 4:13)

We love you,
Dad, Mom, and Stacey

We thank the Lord for a precious Daughter like you!

Congratulations Princess Pink!

Ephesians 6:10
Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might.

Nikki,
"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him and He will direct your paths." (Proverbs 3:5-6)

We're proud of you and we love you!

Mom and Dad,
Eric, Jeff, and Greg

We're proud of you, Nancy!

May you always trust and acknowledge the Lord with all your heart in all your ways and He will direct your paths!

We love you,
Mom and Dad

Amanda Adelle,

Your High School years have come to an end;
With memories of sports, classes and times shared with good friends.
We've watched you grow; shared laughter and tears.
We are two proud parents, and have loved and prayed for you through the years.
God Bless you, and guide you, and use you each day;
And we'll always be there to support you in any way.

We Love You,
Dad & Mom

Congratulations Lonny!!

We love you and pray that your life will continue with an eternal perspective.

"I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth."

III John 4

Dad and Mom

How blessed is the man who does not walk in the counsel of the ungodly. Nor stand in the path of sinners, nor sit in the seat of scoffers. But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in His law he meditates day and night. And he will be like a tree firmly planted by streams of water which yield it's fruit in its season, and it's leaf does not wither and in whatever he does he prospers. Psalm 1:1-3

Dear Sara,
Your life has been a blessing to so many. Keep your eyes on the Lord and He will continue to use you in mighty ways. We are so proud of you.

We love you, Mom, Dad, Tifany & Ashley

Joy, the name we gave you was an attempt to bless you. We wanted you to always have joy in your heart, no matter what. Naming you as we did was our expression of hope for you, in a crazy world where you would one day find your place in history.

Congratulations, Joy, at this special time in your life. We are proud of you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

"Being confident of this very thing, that He which hath begun a good work in you, will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ."

Philippians 1:6

Hannah,
"The eyes of the Lord go to and fro over the face of the earth to show Himself mighty on behalf of those whose hearts are completely His."
IIChron. 16:9
So thankful your heart and life are His!
We love you forever,
Mom and Dad

Eric,

Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight. Proverbs 3:5

We love you,
Mom and Dad
Krisa, Sarah, Laura, Tim

Kristin,

Trust in the Lord and do good; dwell in the land, and feed on His faithfulness. Delight yourself also in the Lord, and He shall give you the desires of your heart. Psalm 37:3, 4

We're pleased with how our little girl has grown up.

Love,
Dad and Mom
